

Editorial Message

It is great honor and high pleasure to be appointed as member- Editorial Board, then as executive editor, Universal Journal of Pharmaceutical Research (UJPR).

My heartiest salutations and warm congratulation to all editorial board members for their high success of today through their hard work and persistence.

Actually, UJPR is now recognized as an international and indexed journal in more than 30 locations and i think that our journal will achieve an impact factor and will be member of Scopus and ISI journals in the nearest future. Universal Journal of Pharmaceutical Research (UJPR) with its high qualified editorial board members, high quality manuscripts and excellence of those reviewing the manuscripts will enable to go ahead and get a high reputation over the world.

I will take this opportunity to appeal to all authors to prepare their manuscripts strictly according to journal instructions so as to avoid any undue delay in its editorial processing and disappointment of rejection.

At last i hope for our journal high success and to generate an impact factor for which we invite submission of more original articles and citation of relevant literature published in this journal in your future publications.
